Today's tasks are following;

- If you are an entrepreneur already, go back in time and ask yourself - why did you start this journey? What was your main impulse?
- a) Was it to get out of pain?
- b) Was it to solve a problem for you or others?
- c) Was it because you fell in love of the process of figuring things out or the process of change?
- d) Did you feel the call to help others?
- Look back and figure out in which of the areas have you offered your services in:
  - a) Health
  - b) Wealth
  - c) Relationships

After answering to all of these questions - what is your mission and vision right now and what kind of adjustments you need to become a fully conscious entrepreneur? I believe if you do what you do because you have full clarity about your personal WHY - it helps to build a stronger foundation and you can become an even better entrepreneur for you and others. So answer these questions and become even better!

Enjoy today's tasks and know that your life can change one step at the time!
